Surplus Iris Sale Special Offer to the Trade Only

This is frankly an experiment. For the past five years I have worked in building up a complete Iris collection, with the object of maintaining a historical reference planting where all varieties could be seen and compared.

From this planting I expect to publish a classification into the leading color groups. Each color group will be discussed and the best indicated. A list of the best 300 varieties will be published and a further list of the best 100 drawn from the larger list.

The new introductions will be compared and tested with the older plantings and the results published. I have bloomed over 500 varieties this season and the first installment of this work will be published with the 1928 catalog.

In the course of this work, a surplus of some varieties has accumulated. This surplus is herewith listed for the trade. No pretense of large stock is made. It, however, does afford an opportunity to get acquainted with the newer varieties at a small outlay. There is great interest abroad about the Newer Iris. It will pay to have them listed and on display for your customers. Descriptions are not reliable. Price is no indication of real merit. Seeing is the only sure guide. A diversified planting of new varieties will make your garden a center of interest.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Wishing a wide distribution, all varieties listed are offered in quantities of one to three roots only, except where marked (*) lots of 1 to 5 are offered and where marked () lots of one to ten are offered.

All orders should be in by August 1st when shipments will be made. Those wishing more than one lot may place their order on file and after regular orders are filled you will be advised what excess stock is available.

Size of Roots: Strong, young single fan divisions or their equivalent.

Terms: Cash with order.

All stock offered subject to prior sale.

Immediate acknowledgment of order, with return refund if unable to fill.
